Rogue Theatre in The Dancer and The Devil

Fri & Sat 6/7 May 8pm

£10 or £7(c) Friends £8 or 6(c)

Family ticket £20 or £15(c)

Bright, sparkling and full of comic mischief, The Dancer and The Devil invites you to lose yourself in a world of twisted cabaret. Set in a secret bar, a speak-easy, in a country smothered by war, The Dancer and The Devil presents a cabaret of those displaced, those who have to hide and those who have had to run away from their former lives with hastily-packed suitcases bursting with memories and stories. Meet "Cupcakes" (the Murderous Master Baker), "Minue" (who'll be whoever you want her to be), "Ruby" (the jewel that fell from the crown), and "Laverna" (who'll get the fire blazing).

Here's a glimpse into the sumptuous and cuckoo world of Rogue Theatre. Tonight's show is suitable for all members of the family; including the brave, imaginative young people of nine and over. Book now for a fine family night out!

Three Cane Whale & The Wraiths

Sat 11 Jun 8pm

£10/£7 (c) Friends £8/£6 (c)

Here's an evening of gentle but phenomenally intelligent acoustic music from two of the West Country's most exciting groups. Three Cane Whale is a new multi-instrumental trio, playing acoustic miniatures which draw influence from folk and minimalist music. The trio comprises Alex Vann (mandolin, bowed psaltery, music box), Pete Judge (trumpet, harmonium, lyre, glockenspiel) and Paul Bradley (acoustic guitar). Here we have small gems of minimalist, gentle beauty with a habit of building to a spellbinding, mesmerising crescendo.

For second course, here are The Wraiths — Bristol-based duo who deliver finely-tuned settings of poems from Lord Tennyson, Emily Dickinson, Walter de la Mare and William Blake. The music comes in the form of percussive guitar strains from Jon Hunt to underpin the fine and compelling voice of Mog. Their sound is gentle and pithy, opulent arrangements with a beguiling simplicity.

The Old Dance School

Sun 12 Jun 8pm

£10/£7 (c) Friends £8/£6 (c)

Harnessing energy from the elements and inspiration from their unstoppable sense of adventure, this formidable folk collective fuses seven of the exciting young folk scene's finest musicians. Tonight The Old Dance School blends fiddles with soaring brass crescendos, wind and vocal harmonies with earth shattering grooves to create blistering tunes and vivid songs. Their journey began in 2006 as a gathering of friends in the garden of the old Betty Fox school of ballet in Birmingham (the legendary party venue from where they take their name). Five years on, 40,000 miles and many dozen festivals later they continue to deliver a startling 'take' on contemporary folk which is both firmly rooted and unashamedly forward thinking. The diversity and sheer talent of each musician combine forces to build a creative, infectious fizz. Don't miss this Sunday night summer special.

K'passa

Sat 16 Jul 8pm

£10/£7 (c) Friends £8/£6 (c)

It's almost the end of term and Prema has such a treat for all your lovers of fast-paced, scorching folk-rock. Tonight we have the legendary K'passa playing at Prema - Gloucestershire's friendliest and most intimate live music venue.

Since its formation back in 1988, K'passa has undergone many incarnations but maintain its highly contagious drive, energy, passion as well as an ever-loyal, ever-growing army of fans. Often spotted across the South West, this powerhouse of blistering folk-rock sound is prone to causing crowd-euphoria at the many festivals and gigs they play. They fuse elements of folk, dub, Cajun and reggae to create a highly danceable sound which it's impossible to resist. Here we have a blasting summer offering from Prema in our summer of bustin' roots sounds. Book good and early as we'll sell out in days!

Nikki Simpson

9 May-18 Jun

Stroud-based photographer Nikki Simpson trained in photography at Central St Martin's School of Art and Design and now divides her time between running her own photographic and film-making practice and delivering photographic workshops throughout the South West.

Nikki's photography provides a medium through which she explores how the environment and the body can mirror one another to prompt the viewer to reflect on his or her place in the landscape they inhabit.

In her latest body of work 'Symbols of Self' she photographs herself moving unclothed through land formations; from the overgrown woodland in Gloucestershire to Cathedral Rock in Arizona. The images from this collection have a simple beauty and yet somehow there's an underlying darkness to the images.

Gail Tresize

9 May-18 Jun

Gail Tresize is a ceramic artist based in Brixham, Devon. She takes inspiration from nature - the tiny creatures found in rock pools and the shells which they inhabit as well as newly opened flower buds or seed pods. Her work is produced through a process of cutting cellulose sponge constructs to shape and then stitching them. These moulds are used to slip cast her forms, usually earthenware slip although occasionally porcelain. Once bisque fired the pieces are painted using layers of underglaze colour to build depth and enhance the texture, finishing with a matt or satin glaze. What is fascinating about this process is that unlike traditional plaster casts, these soft moulds are destroyed in the making process. So even when the same "die" is used, each piece emerges from the kiln with its own unique texture and identity. Gail is also an associate member of The Devon Guild of Craftsmen and a member of West Country Potters.

Angela Lizon

Colossal Cats

4 Jul-13 Aug

Bristol-based painter Angela Lizon commenced this series of paintings as a light-hearted escape from abstract themes which she had pursued for many years. Since then her practice has grown to encompass and reference many ideas & cultural references from the the sixties and seventies – a childhood of doilies, knitted swimming costumes, plastic flowers and kitsch ornaments. The starting point for these images was George Stubbs' painting of a horse called "Whistle Jacket" in the National Gallery, and a poster of a kitten on the artist's daughter's bedroom wall. Painting on a large scale then transforms and elevates the original throwaway kitsch image in to something more substantial. By presenting the familiar in an unfamiliar way contradictions occur between our expected reactions and a feeling of unease. The intention of the original imagery is lost; the humour serving to highlight the frivolous, the unsettling and the slightly absurd

Tamany Baker

Living with Wolfie

4 Jul-13 Aug

Artist, lecturer and commercial photographer Tamany Baker is based in Bristol and shares her home with Wolfie – a feline with a penchant for investigating the local wildlife. This beloved cat is prone to bringing “presents” to his owner. At first, these gifts brought about a sense of horror for Tamany and then as she began to interpret the cat’s instincts she felt it appropriate to respond to the gifts by making a shrine incorporating seasonal flowers or the domestic environment; reminiscent of the way the Victorians used locks of hair and flowers to decorate photographs of deceased loved ones. The decorating of the wildlife remains has become a collaboration between Tamany and Wolfie and a way of the artist accepting the cat’s wildness in spite of the difficulties she may have with his habits!

Lisa Yardley's Creative Adventure

4 Jul-13 Aug

Lisa Yardley's artistic journey started out with early memories of grubbing about in nature, marvelling at the miniature jungle that was the back garden: a place rich in amazing insects and towering plants. Adventures which inspired imaginary tales which she transcribed into storyboards. Lisa's work consists of a variety of assemblage, photography, illustration and puppetry - creative problem solving; turning found and recycled treasures into a fantastical miniature world or narrative.

Yardley's true passion is looking at the world through 'Lisa-Vision' and translating what she sees into something that invokes a kindred child-like wonder in the people who come across her creative adventures.

For her exhibition at Prema, Lisa uses the showcase to highlight her broad range of skills and her love of the fanciful, the playful and to inspire us all with a sense of awe and wonder.

Prema Book Club

It's back! We're re-launching Prema's book club — this time the group will be convened by avid reader Siobhán McCann. The book club is a great chance to get together and talk about the book — what worked for you, what didn't, parallels you might have spotted to other writers' works or perhaps a chance to ask questions (so often a novel can leave us with a number of thoughts and questions).

We're taking the theme of the second novel as our focus for the next few books. It's all very laid-back and you're welcome to chip in with your thoughts or sit back and listen to the discussion. Each session lasts about 90 minutes and there'll be a pot of tea and coffee on the go and some very comfy sofas! And it's free! What could be nicer?

Her Fearful Symmetry by Audrey Niffenegger

Tue 24 May 7.30pm

When Elspeth dies she leaves her beautiful flat to her twin nieces on the condition that their mother is never allowed to cross the threshold. The twins feel that in London their own lives can finally begin but have no idea that they have been summoned into a tangle of fraying lives, to unravel the secrets of their aunt, who doesn't seem quite ready to leave her flat, even after death. Niffenegger weaves a delicious and deadly ghost story about love, loss and identity. A tasty second helping from the author who brought us the much beloved Time Traveller's Wife.

So Many Ways to Begin by Jon McGregor

Tue 28 Jun 7.30pm

David Carter cannot help but wish for more. A few careless words spoken by his mother's friend have left David restless with the knowledge that his whole life has been constructed around a lie. Struggling to make sense of his past through an archive of letters, photos and artefacts, David searches for meaning and truth but the story always seems to come back to him and his wife, to their quiet attempts to hold it all together. Here's the exquisite second novel from the writer who was celebrated for his gorgeous "If Nobody Speaks of Remarkable Things".

Sat 14 May 10am-4pm

£30 or £27(c) Friends £28 or £25(c)

Following the popularity of Singing For The Terrified, Prema plays host to this wonderful day workshop that promises to be a true celebration of singing. Led by the very encouraging and experienced singing teacher Jo McAndrews, the day is open to those with lots of experience or none at all. The emphasis is very much on joining in and singing whole-heartedly with no need to read music. Pop, gospel, world and folk songs in easy to learn, gorgeous harmony. Come and sing your heart out with old and new friends.

Mother & Baby Yoga

Wed 8 Jun 1-2pm £6 or Friends £4

Being a mother can definitely take its toll on your body. Daily routines don't leave much time for relaxation or a workout that doesn't involve lifting the car seat! So here's an opportunity to combine motherhood with some revitalising and gentle exercise. Bring your baby (or your bump) along and join inspirational yoga teacher, mother and nurse (I know!) Sarah Harlow for a joyful way to connect with your little one, and enjoy some much needed balance and harmony.

Here's a summer taster-session for inspiration - just one hour from your day, some great relaxation and perhaps a cuppa in Prema's garden afterwards!

Reading Allowed

Wed 8 Jun 7-9.30pm

£15 or £12(c) Friends £13 or £10(c)

A story read out loud stays with you and draws in a captive audience. For old and young alike the pleasure of being caught up in a story is a gift to pass on.

However, we know that reading aloud can sometimes be daunting, in front of many; or even a chore, bedtime after bedtime.

In this gentle and inspiring workshop magical storyteller Jo McAndrews will help you bring a story to life, giving you a confident voice and a real enjoyment of the telling.

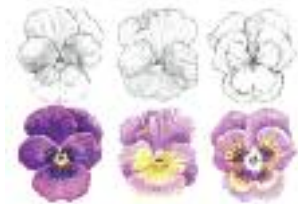

Contemplative Photography

Sun 12 Jun 10am-4pm

£48 or £45(c) Friends £46 or £44(c)

In the snap happy world of digital photography we often don't take the time to literally stop and smell the roses. This thoughtful workshop with photographer Nikki Simpson will encourage a more reflective approach to taking pictures in the great outdoors. The aim is to take time to compose your shot well, while also allowing time to compose yourself. An inspiring day for those with some experience or complete beginners. Bring your digital camera, a packed lunch and comfy shoes.

Summer Garden Journals Adventures in Watercolour

Sun 26 Jun 10am-4pm £42 or £39(c)

Friends £40 or £37(c)

Nature provides a wonderful source of visual inspiration and reference for many artists and designers. Spend a day with talented botanical illustrator Carol Roberts finding new ways to record your observations. Create pages of notes and visual ingredients in the morning, really developing your eye for observing closely as you explore the local flora and fauna. Then spend the afternoon transforming your journal pages into a unique composition. Bring your camera, some watercolours and a sturdy sketchbook.

Once Upon A Time

Wed 29 June 7-9.30pm £15 or £12(c)

Friends £13 or £10(c)

We all have a story to tell and memories to share. This inventive workshop explores the creative art of storytelling, enabling parents and grandparents, friends and teachers to spin a tale for the children in their lives.

Whether based on fact, family history, favourite characters from books or completely out of nowhere, storyteller Jo McAndrews will inspire and encourage you to make up your own stories and share them.

In short an evening of storytelling and learning how to spin a yarn. A great summer one-off workshop for those with an imagination.
